

A child's drawing of a village scene. The scene is enclosed within a thick red outline. At the top, there is a black windmill with a red base. To the left of the windmill is a red house with a black roof. Below the windmill is a classical building with four columns and a triangular pediment. To the right of the classical building is a yellow house with a red roof. Below the yellow house is a red car. The background is green, and there are some blue and red lines representing trees or bushes. The drawing is dated 11/06/90 in the bottom right corner.
